Marching With Aunt Susan: Susan B. Anthony and the Fight for Women’s Suffrage

Written by Claire Rudolf Murphy and illustrated by Stacey Schuett
ISBN: 978-1-56145-593-5 | HC | $16.95
Ages 6-10 | Historical Fiction

About the Book
Based on the experiences of a real girl, this inspiring story offers a child’s eye view of the fight for women’s right to vote.

All Bessie wants is to go hiking with her father and brothers. But it’s 1896 and girls don’t get to hike. They can’t vote either, which Bessie discovers when Susan B. Anthony comes to town to help lead the campaign for women’s suffrage. Inspired by the great woman, Bessie becomes involved in the movement and discovers that hiking is only one of the many things that women and girls aren’t allowed to do. But small efforts can result in small changes—and maybe even big ones.

Reviews
“...Schuett’s rich gouache paintings have the texture and heft of oils, and she captures the beauty of the suffragists’ white dresses and gold and purple ribbons, as well as the women’s strength and determination... An inspiring and revelatory tale.” —Kirkus

NT.K-12.5 Technology Research Tools
Use technology to locate, evaluate and collect information from a variety of sources. Use technology tools to process data and report results. Evaluate and select new information resources and technological innovations based on the appropriateness for specific tasks.
BACKGROUND FOR TEACHERS
Voting is the right of all citizens of the United States. It gives citizens the opportunity to help decide laws, by electing officials that make those laws. In our 1789 Constitution women were considered citizens, but the right to vote was not spelled out. Each state had to decide their own regulations about voting. New Jersey allowed women who owned property to vote from 1790–1807, but then they took the right away. Not until passage of the 19th amendment, in 1920, did all women citizens have the right to vote.

BEFORE YOU READ
• Introduce the words citizenship, elections, and suffrage.
• Discuss what students know about who can vote in elections.
• Discuss why some people might not want all citizens to vote. (This question can also be asked during or after reading.)
• Discuss what offices are elected in our country on the local, state, and national level.
• Discuss how voting gives citizens a voice in decisions made by our government.

AS YOU READ
• Why do you think that Bessie was allowed to ride a bike, but not go hiking with her brothers?
• What makes Bessie begin to think about women deserving the right to vote?
• Why didn’t her brothers think it was a big deal?
• Why were some people, men and women, so against the idea of women getting to vote?
• Which father would you like to have—Bessie’s or Rita’s?
• How does a bicycle give women (or any person) freedom? Why did Bessie’s mother want to ride a bike?

AFTER YOU READ
• Are there any groups of people in America today that are not allowed to vote?
• What would you be willing to do to stand up for something you believed in?

CLASSROOM ACTIVITIES

LANGUAGE ARTS
The real Bessie Keith Pond wrote poems all her life. This is a poem that she wrote in 1895, the year before this story takes place, when she was nine years old.

Eclipse
I looked up into the sky
One dark and stormy night
An eclipse was drawing nigh
And the moon was shining bright.
A strange thought came to me,
As I looked out over the sea;
I wondered if an eclipse
Were coming over me.

Teacher Note: A lunar eclipse occurs when the moon passes behind the earth, so that the earth blocks the sun’s rays from striking the moon and the sky goes dark. Research of lunar eclipses revealed that an eclipse of the moon did take place in 1895. So Bessie likely based her poem on a real experience.

Writing Poetry
• Write a poem about an event in nature that you observe—a bird fluttering around a flower, a sunset, a rainstorm, an animal giving birth. Describe the setting and event. You may choose to also connect that event to a feeling that you have. What does Bessie mean when she says, “I wondered if an eclipse were coming over me.”
[Possible answer: She wonders if she might go dark (sad) inside for a time.]
• Read The Suffragist’s Alphabet poem in this guide. Write an ABC poem for a cause you believe in.

Write a Song—Read and sing the Women’s Suffrage songs in this guide. Choose a song and write new lyrics for a cause you believe in.

Journal Writing
• Write a week’s worth of journal entries in the week leading up to the 1896 suffrage vote, including the parade, the election, and Bessie’s feelings after the defeat.
• Now move ahead to 1911 when Bessie is 25 years old. Write an entry in her diary on the day following the victory. What does she remember about helping during the 1896 election? What has she done with her father since 1896 that signifies her growing freedom?

Creative Writing – Writing an Obituary
The following link shares Susan B. Anthony’s 1905 obituary. Have students write an obituary for Bessie. They can use information from the back of the book to spur ideas.
[www.nytimes.com/learning/general/onthisday/bday/0215.html?scp=1&sq=%22Miss%20Susan %20B.%20%20Anthony%20Died%20This%20Mornin g%27%27&st=cse](www.nytimes.com/learning/general/onthisday/bday/0215.html?scp=1&sq=%22Miss%20Susan %20B.%20%20Anthony%20Died%20This%20Mornin g%27%27&st=cse)

SOCIAL STUDIES
- Pretend you are at a suffrage rally. In your classroom, mark a line down the middle of the room. Half the students believe in women’s suffrage and half do not. Take turns going back and forth, shouting out a reason for or against. Or make it a more formal debate, where teams set up arguments to present.
- Make two columns and label Boys and Girls. List in each column what each group could do in 1896—in school, sports, at home.
- In 1911 California was the fifth state in the nation to give women the right to vote, following Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, and Washington state. Why do you think women in the West were first given the right to vote? Use the following link that includes information about suffrage in the western states to find the answer.
  www.theautry.org/explore/exhibits/suffrage/s uffrage_ca.html
- Today less than 50 percent of American citizens vote, even in a presidential election. When you turn eighteen, you’ll be able to vote. Visit www.kidsvotingusa.org to learn more about how to get involved.
- Cause You Support—Choose a cause that is important to you. What are you willing to do to make it happen? (donate money, march in a parade, write a letter to editor, set up a soapbox and give a speech downtown or at a rally, go to jail, knock on doors to convince other people, etc.) Write a paper about a cause you support and what you are willing to do to make it happen.
- What are some things that have changed for girls in school since Susan B. Anthony’s time?

- What are some things that have changed for girls regarding physical fitness since Bessie Keith Pond’s era?
- Interview three women about voting: 19 years old, around 60 years old, and around 80 years old. Check in with relatives, family friends and neighbors. Ask them the year they first voted and how they felt.
- Ask your older relatives if they know anyone in your family tree that was a suffragist. They don’t have to be famous. Thousands, maybe millions of women made this finally happen. Try to get a photo of that woman if you can and share her story with your class.
- Research other women who helped fight for women’s suffrage. Find a suffragist leader in your state. Ask your librarian for help or visit the National Women’s Hall of Fame at www.greatwomen.org.

ART
The real Bessie Keith Pond grew up to be an artist, poet, and teacher. She taught art and took her students on nature hikes, encouraging them to draw what they saw.
- Go on a nature walk with your students and have them bring their sketchpads. Have them draw animals or plants that catch their attention. Assure them not to worry about being perfect, just sketch what they find interesting to draw.
- Design a sign or banner that you would march with in a suffrage parade.
- Look at the cartoons in the back of the book. Draw a cartoon in favor or against women’s suffrage.

MATH

Problem Solving—Place students in small groups and have them answer the following math questions. Allow them to share how they solved the questions.
1. The real Bessie Keith Pond hiked thousands of miles with her family all over the Sierra Nevada Mountains. If she hiked 300 miles in seven days, how many miles a day did she hike?
2. In 1648 Margaret Brent asked to vote in the colony of Maryland because she owned property. How many years before all women in America could vote? (hint: 1920)
3. How many states were needed to ratify the 19th amendment and make it law? In 1920 there were 48 states and 2/3 of them had to ratify the amendment.
4. What year did your state allow women to vote? How many years ago was that?

SCIENCE

Discussion Questions

1. Why weren’t girls and women allowed to play sports in 1896? [Answer: It was believed that their bodies would be in danger if they played sports.]

2. Do girls and boys play the same sports today? Why do you think this is the case? [Answers will vary.]

Bicycles—Research the change in bicycle models from 1896 until today. What changes have been made to the bicycle? Have students draw before and after pictures of these changes. Also have them write a paragraph under each picture describing the design styles. For more information visit the National Bicycle History Archive of America at www.ibike.org/library/history.htm.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Claire Rudolf Murphy has written more than fifteen books for children, from picture to middle fiction and nonfiction. She has a degree in history from Santa Clara University, a teaching credential from the University of California at Berkeley, and an MFA in Creative Writing. Claire has presented to students in grades K–12 for over twenty years and has recently begun offering Skype visits with classrooms around the country. She offers two new presentations beginning Fall 2011. VOTES FOR ALL

AMERICANS is a one-hour assembly presentation that can be adapted for grades K-8. Activities include a reading of Marching With Aunt Susan, a debate on women’s suffrage, students sharing profiles of Americans fighting for the vote over two centuries, and a dramatization of ways citizens protested for the vote. WRITING ABOUT HISTORY is a one-hour workshop that introduces students to a period of history such as the women’s suffrage movement, Alaska gold rush, Lewis and Clark Expedition, or a hundred years on Alcatraz Island. Murphy can also tailor this workshop to a period of history students are currently studying such as the Oregon Trail or Colonial America. She guides students to use historical facts to create a new type of writing, beyond the informational essay. These include stories, poetry, plays, and journal entries. WOMEN’S SUFFRAGE SONGS
The following songs are from the Songs of the Suffragettes, 1958 Folkways Records #FH5281 c/o Smithsonian-Folkways Records. For more information, visit www.si.edu/folkways/.

Keep Woman in Her Sphere by D. Estabrook
This song is found in numerous suffrage songbooks and was widely sung at rallies.

(Sung to the tune of Auld Lang Syne)
I have a neighbor, one of those
Not very hard to find
Who know it all without debate
And never change their mind.

I asked him, “What of woman’s rights?”
He said in tones severe—
“My mind on that is all made up,
Keep woman in her sphere.”

I saw a man in tattered garb
Forth from the grog-shop come
He squandered all his cash for drink
And starved his wife at home.

I asked him “Should not woman vote?”
He answered with a sneer—
“I’ve taught my wife to know her place,
Keep woman in her sphere.”

I met an earnest, thoughtful man
Not many days ago
Who pondered deep all human law
The honest truth to know.

I asked him, “What of woman’s cause?”
The answer came sincere—
“Her rights are just the same as mine,
Let woman choose her sphere.”

The New America
Sung at the National-American Woman’s Suffrage Convention, 1891, this song reflects a common suffrage argument—that giving women the vote simply fulfilled the promise of 1776.

(Sung to the tune of “My Country Tis of Thee”)
Our country, now from thee
Claim we our liberty
In freedom’s name.
Guarding home’s altar fires
Daughters of patriot sires
Their zeal our own inspires
Justice to claim.
Women in every age
For this great heritage
Tribute have paid.
Our birth-right claim we now
Longer refuse to bow

On freedom’s altar now
Our hand is laid.
Sons, will you longer see
Mothers on bended knee
For justice pray?
Rise now, in manhood’s might
With earth’s great souls unite
To speed the dawning light
Of freedom’s day.

Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be?
by L. May Wheeler
Set to a popular parlor tune, this song addresses an argument made against woman’s suffrage; that women already had everything they needed—male protection and a sphere of their own. They don’t need to vote as well.

(Sung to the tune of Oh Dear, What Can the Matter Be?)
Oh Dear, what can the matter be?
Dear, dear what can the matter be?
Oh dear, what can the matter be?
Women are wanting to vote.
Women have husbands, they are protected;
Women have sons by whom they’re directed;
Women have fathers, they’re not neglected;
Why are they wanting to vote?

Women have homes, there they should labor;
Women have children whom they should favor;
Women have time to learn of each neighbor;
Why are they wanting to vote?

Women can dress, they love society;
Women have cash with all its variety;
Women can pray with sweetest piety;
Why are they wanting to vote?

Women have reared all the sons of the brave;
Women have shared the burdens they gave;
Women have labored this country to save;
And that’s why we’re going to vote.

Oh Dear, what can the matter be?
Dear, dear what can the matter be?
Oh dear, what can the matter be?
Why should men get every vote?
