

Mariner, 76, Still Spry After 360 Mile Hike Up Coast With Daughter

OAKLAND TRIBUNE —
BRAKELBY, Aug. 2.—After climbing 360 miles up coast in 10 days, John Charles Martin, 76, is back to start again, testing the fitness of his daughters and granddaughters. He goes from San Francisco to Sacramento, then up the coast to San Simeon. This year he has come all the way to San Francisco.

“Just a glimmer of life,” he says, “but still I’m spry.” Food and drink are welcome off the coast, but the 1,200 miles he has to walk are not. “It’s hard to do it alone,” he says. “I’m not afraid to do it alone, though. I have many supporters along the coast.”

His oldest daughter and her husband, Alvin and Pauline, live near him. They are often joined by other visitors from the coast, as well. “They have been so kind to me,” he says. “I’m never alone.”

“What do you measure when starting and ending?” he was asked.

“I don’t keep watch the first night because I’m afraid where we will stay. And we are where we were hungry. We never had more bacon, and we never had more bacon than in our last meal. At night we sleep in at least blankets under much timber. We never went cold. We camped well. We had a good place to go to every day.”

“We’re reaching Pointe Ranch this afternoon. Admirel Pond will have dinner for us at his cabin there. It will be nice to see him. The people here are progressive or some like-minded party of the place over your time. It is not surprising. I have heard of no one who has been against suffrage during the campaign.”

“We had to wait in those days and the internet, a timetable to the house, and the ads.

WADSWORTH—The movement against the march has been successful, and they are winning their case. The marchers will be allowed to pass through the streets without hindrance.

The Anthony Home Calendar

With illustrations from the Life-time and Services of Miss Anthony, Illustration by Francis H. Johnson. Copyright, 1900, by Catherine M. Flanagan.

When a Father Needs a Friend

A VOTE FOR PRESIDENT
A VOTE FOR A WOMAN,
GIVING HER
RIGHTS

1909

For the work of a day,
For the love we pay,
For the laws we obey,
We want something to say—

POND TO COMMAND PACIFIC RESERVE FLEET

To succeed Rear-Admiral Doyle, who will be retired for age on May 5th.

WANTED men with knowledge of naval affairs, either former sailors or former officials of the Navy Department, to fill the vacancies created by the retirement of the following:

WOMAN'S JOURNAL AND SUFFRAGE NEWS

VOL. XLIV, NO. 18

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1915

FIVE CENTS

PARADE STRUGGLES TO VICTORY DESPITE DISGRACEFUL SCENES

Nation Aroused by Open Insults to Women—Cause Wins Popular Sympathy—Congress Orders Investigation—Striking Object Lesson

Begun in Boston, Mass., last night, the women suffrage parade of 100,000 persons has been delayed and postponed, but will be held to-morrow morning.

The Boston women did not start the parade until 10 a.m. because of the large crowd of spectators, and did not reach the Washington Monument until 11 a.m.

A large crowd of spectators and the women suffragists around them, scattered and confused, were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused, and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

and the marchers were scattered and confused,

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1915

Veteran Navy Officer Takes Delight in Trips to High California Mountain Tops

CHRONICLE

Seventh Anniversary of Birth Celebrated With Typical Ceremony

Nov. 14, 1915

Admiral Charles Edward Pond, second naval officer and one of Navy's most noted disruptors of the order-class, celebrated his seventh birthday recently in a cabin built by his friends in the mountains.

In view of surrounding illness with members of his family gone, the trip had been given up for the day, as a result of the usual annual vacation.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, was confined yesterday at the University Hospital.

Admiral Pond, who had been looking forward to a quiet vacation, made the best of his time and never complained, according to his wife. The couple enjoyed the trip.

The Pond family, consisting of himself, his wife, Miss Elizabeth, Mrs. Clara E. Parker, Mrs. Emma D. Parker, Mr. Frank Parker, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Mr. Elmer Parker, Miss Marion Parker, Mrs. Alice Parker, and Miss Anna Parker.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's sister, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1908.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

Admiral Pond's mother, Mrs. Emily Wadsworth, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's father, Captain Charles Edward Pond, died in 1906.

Admiral Pond's wife, Mrs. Mary Pond, died in 1915.

